"None of us suspected that the Germans would turn their sights toward us. We were Norway. We were neutral and safe. But April 9th, 1940 found Norway in the grip of the Nazi regime. Our rulers fled, leaving us to face the Nazi occupation alone. But some refused to bow their knee to the German invaders." The Lions of Trondheim is an exciting and intriguing story about the Norwegian Resistance Fighters during WW2 struggling to maintain their secrecy from Nazi invaders. Little do they know their greatest enemy is among them. An historical production you will NOT want to miss!
